Lisbon, July 18. On the 5th Inſtant the Queen of Portugal was brought to Bed of a Prince. The King has been for ſome Time at Pedronços, but comes daily hither to viſit the Queen. The Argyle, a Britiſh Man of War, commanded by Captain Norbury, will put to Sea from hence in a few Days.

Madrid, July 19. By an Expreſs from Barcelona we have an Account, that the Intendant Don Joſeph Patinno, and the Generals Don Joſeph de Armendares and the Marqueſs de Lede being arrived there, Orders were iſſued for laying an Imbargo on all Shipping in our Ports in the Mediterranean; that the Troops which are to be employed with the Squadron that was fitted out at Cadiz for the Levant, are augmented to 10000 Men; and that the Marqueſs Mari is to command this Squadron, which is reinforced with four Gallies. 'Tis adviſed from Cadiz, that the Fleta for New Spain has taken in all its Lading, and by the next Courier we expect to hear it has put to Sea.

Vienna, July 21. The laſt Letters from the Camp before Belgrade, are of the 12th Inſtant, and relate, that the Accounts of the Turkiſh Army were very uncertain; for which Reaſon Prince Eugene having now finiſhed his Lines of Circumvallation, and landed all his Artillery, had determined to open the Trenches on the 15th or 16th, without waiting any longer to be certified of the March or Deſign of the Enemy's Army. Seven Turks who were taken Priſoners on the 11th near Semendria by a Party of Huſſars, ſay that Army was advanced to Niſſa, and that the Aſiatick Troops ſeemed unwilling to march forward, but that there was a Body of 15000 Turks between Semendria and Orſova. A Janiſary who has deſerted out of Belgrade, reports, that they loſt four ſmall Frigates, a Galley, ſeveral Saicks, and about 350 Men, in the Fight they had lately with two of the Emperour's Men of War: That there were in all about 30000 Perſons in the Place, viz. 12000 Janiſaries, 3000 Spahis, and 15000 Inhabitants: And he adds, that the Garriſon have reſolved to ſally out in a Body upon the Imperialiſts, if the two Armies ſhall engage, and in caſe their Army be defeated to ſurrender the Place upon the beſt Terms they can get, without any further Reſiſtance. Count Mercy, General of the Horſe, being commanded with a Detachment to attack a Redoubt which the Turks have at the Mouth of the River Donawitz that incommodes very much the Emperour's Ships, was juſt got on Horſeback to execute his Orders on the 10th, when he was ſeized with a Fit of an Apoplexy, and is not yet out of Danger, for which Reaſon that Deſign is laid aſide for the preſent.

Geneva, July 26. The King of Sicily left Chamberry on the 21ſt Inſtant, to return to Piemont, having with him the Prince his Son. Some of his Miniſters are ſtill at Chamberry, to ſettle, as'tis ſaid, certain Matters relating to the Government of Savoy: He has alſo left behind the Prince of Carignan. The Council of this City being informed that the Cantons of Zurich and Berne cannot agree upon the Method of ſending the intended Deputation in Behalf of this Town to the King of Sicily, Zurich being willing that their Deputy ſhould go alone, as being the 1ſt Canton, and acting in the Name of the whole Evangelick Body, and Berne being deſirous to join one of their Deputies, Yeſterday an Expreſs was ſent with the Opinion of our Regency therein, which is, that adding a Deputy from Berne to that of Zurich may be of greater Weight with the King of Sicily, and therefore they preſs that both may be ſent jointly.

Copenhagen, July 27. On the 20th Inſtant arrived an Expreſs from the King, with Orders for Admiral Scheſteedt to ſail to Norway with a Squadron of 8 Men of War, and Tranſports having on board 8 Battallions of Foot and two Regiments of Horſe: Accordingly Preparations are making with all Diligence for their Imbarkation, and they will ſail in a few Days, the Foot from hence, the Horſe from Jutland. The Britiſh and Daniſh Squadrons continue in the Bay of Kiog. A Fleet of Merchant-Ships from Great-Britain, bound for the Baltick, arrived here on the 21ſt Inſtant, and this Morning proceeded on their Voyage. It is talked, that his Daniſh Majeſty, after having made a Progreſs to ſeveral Places of Jutland, will return hither without going to Holſtein.
